BOISE STATE HONORS CATHOLIC CHARITIES' LEADERS—Two leaders from Catholic Charities of Idaho received awards March 1 from the Boise State University Women's Center. Executive Director Rosio Gonzalez was honored in "Her Story" for her outstanding contributions to the community. Legislative Advocate Will Rainford, right, received the center's Larry Seland Humanitarian Award given to the BSU faculty member who makes significant contributions in the area of human rights. Rainford is an assistant professor in the BSU School of Social Work and received the award for his efforts with Catholic Charities. At left is Wanda Viento, director of the BSU Women's Center.
